

LEARNER SUPPORT

What is the difference between a misplaced and a struggling student?

Teachers will receive the learning outcomes expected for the assigned level, as well as those for a level below and a level above. Coupled with ongoing formative assessments, this information should enable teachers to effectively assess whether a student is appropriately placed or potentially misplaced.

Difference	Misplaced	Struggling
Definition	Misplaced students are those who have been inaccurately assigned to a proficiency level that does not align with their actual language skills (whether above or below).	Struggling students are those who are placed in the correct proficiency level but require additional support and assistance to meet academic expectations.
How to identify	↑ Misplaced into higher level - Lack of familiarity with content or skills mastered in the previous levels. - Difficulty understanding basic concepts and vocabulary taught at the assigned level. - Consistently struggle with basic skills or concepts - Expressing frustration during lessons due to being overwhelmed or confused. ↓ Misplaced into lower level - Consistently demonstrates advanced language skills beyond the level they are currently placed in - Consistently produces higher-quality writing - A student who can comprehend and interpret challenging texts beyond the level they are currently placed in - Lack of engagement and boredom because they find the material too easy or repetitive.	- Demonstrate inconsistent performance in language tasks despite understanding the material i.e demonstrate occasional difficulty with specific tasks. - Need extra time or assistance to complete assignments or comprehend lesson content. - Exhibit a willingness to learn and engage with the material but face challenges in mastering specific skills.
Action needed	- Teacher needs to fill in a "Misplaced/Struggling Student Report" and send it to the principal. - Student will undertake a re-placement test in order to be placed in the appropriate level	- Teacher needs to fill in a "Misplaced/Struggling Student Report" and send it to the principal - Teacher will create an Individualized Action Plan and provide the necessary support and send it to both the principal and the student. - Student will continue in the current level

In short. A misplaced student is in the wrong level and takes a re-placement test. A struggling student is in the right level, stays in it, and is supported with an Individualized Action Plan.

INDIVIDUALIZED ACTION PLAN

Guidelines for Creating and Implementing an Individualized Action Plan

a

Identify Goals

Start by identifying clear and achievable goals for the struggling student. These goals should be specific, measurable, attainable, relevant, and time-bound (SMART). For example, improving reading comprehension skills, increasing participation in class discussions, or completing homework assignments on time.

Assessment and Analysis

Conduct a thorough assessment of the student's strengths, weaknesses, learning style, and any underlying issues contributing to their struggles.

c

Prioritize Areas for Improvement

Based on the assessment, prioritize the areas where the student needs the most support. Focus on addressing fundamental skills or knowledge gaps that are essential for academic success.

d

Develop Strategies and Interventions

Identify specific strategies and interventions to support the student in achieving their goals. Consider a variety of approaches, such as differentiated instruction, one-on-one tutoring, assistive technology, or modifications to assignments.

Provide Resources and Support

Determine what resources or materials the student may need to succeed. This could include access to supplementary learning materials, specialized instruction, counseling services, watching the recordings one more time...

f

Establish a Timeline

Create a timeline for implementing the action plan and achieving each goal. Set specific deadlines for completing action steps and milestones, and regularly review progress to ensure accountability and adjust the plan as needed.

g

Monitor and Evaluate Progress

Regularly monitor the student's progress towards their goals and evaluate the effectiveness of the interventions. Use formative assessments, progress reports, and ongoing communication with the student, parents, and other stakeholders to track progress and make necessary adjustments to the action plan.

h

Celebrate Achievements and Provide Feedback

Recognize and celebrate the student's achievements and progress towards their goals. Provide positive reinforcement and constructive feedback to encourage continued effort and motivation. Share their videos on the group and encourage them, give them extra dojo points or any other ways for encouragement.

Review and Revise as Needed

Periodically review the action plan to assess its effectiveness and make any necessary revisions based on the student's evolving needs and progress. Continuously refine and adjust the plan to ensure it remains responsive to the student's individual needs and goals.

INDIVIDUALIZED ACTION PLAN

Individualized Action Plan

Teachers are responsible for developing these IAPs, sharing them with the student and implementing them, and subsequently monitoring the student's progress.
